Human Aid Society and RRAI Successfully Conduct Training Workshop for Unemployed Youth

HAS Desk: 5th August 2026

The Human Aid Society, in collaboration with its U.S.A based partner organization RRAI, successfully conducted an important training workshop under a livelihood initiative aimed at creating sustainable employment opportunities for unemployed youth. Under the project, ten unemployed young people were selected through a transparent and systematic selection process. The candidates were interviewed and assessed jointly by representatives of the Human Aid Society and RRAI, with RRAI officials participating online in the selection process.

Following the selection of the beneficiaries, RRAI timely released the entire required project funding in advance to the Human Aid Society, enabling the organization to initiate project activities without delay and ensure that employment opportunities for the selected youth could be created within the planned timeframe.

As part of the implementation process, important decisions concerning the project were taken during the Executive Committee meeting of the Human Aid Society held at its office on 28 July 2026. The Procurement Committee obtained quotations from different vendors in accordance with the prescribed procedures and, after due evaluation, recommended a suitable supplier. The recommendation was subsequently approved by the Executive Body, which authorized the procurement process. To ensure transparency, quality, and proper technical standards, the Department of Animal Husbandry Baramulla *, Government of Jammu & Kashmir, was also involved for technical support.

This collaboration is intended to ensure that healthy and good-quality livestock, duly examined by veterinary experts, is provided to the selected beneficiaries. After completing the necessary legal, administrative, and technical formalities, the procurement process has now commenced and is expected to be completed shortly.

Before formally inaugurating the project and handing over the livestock to the beneficiaries, the Human Aid Society considered it essential to provide the selected youth with appropriate practical training so that they could manage their livelihood units professionally and develop them into successful and sustainable business ventures.

Accordingly, on 4th August 2026, the Human Aid Society organized *a two-hour long specialized training workshop at its office with the support of the Department of Animal Husbandry, Baramulla. Veterinary doctors and technical experts from the Department provided the participants with valuable guidance on livestock management, animal healthcare, disease prevention, proper management of their units, and the various government facilities and support services available to livestock owners.

The experts also created awareness among the beneficiaries about various government schemes through which they could obtain additional support and strengthen their livelihood units. Participants were informed about veterinary services, including the availability of mobile veterinary vans, as well as other relevant government schemes and facilities that could help them protect and expand their livestock-based enterprises.

The workshop proved highly informative not only for the ten selected beneficiaries but also for the office-bearers and other members of the Human Aid Society, who gained valuable knowledge about several government schemes and services of which they had previously not been fully aware.

The approved supplier associated with the procurement process was also invited to attend the workshop. This provided an opportunity to discuss the relevant procurement requirements, quality standards, and technical expectations in the presence of the beneficiaries and experts, further strengthening transparency and coordination among all stakeholders.

The workshop concluded successfully, marking an important preparatory step towards the formal launch of the livelihood initiative.

At the conclusion of the programme, the Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Human Aid Society expressed their sincere gratitude to the Department of Animal Husbandry, Baramulla, its veterinary doctors and technical experts, and the participating youth for their cooperation and active involvement.

Special appreciation was extended to Mr. Masood Ishtiaq Rass, Director of RRAI, USA for his commitment and generous support towards addressing unemployment among local youth.

The Human Aid Society particularly acknowledged the confidence and trust placed in the organization by RRAI-USA and assured that every possible effort would be made to uphold that trust through transparency, integrity, and effective implementation of the project. The Human Aid Society expressed the hope that the selected young beneficiaries would derive sustainable economic benefits from these livelihood units and that the partnership between RRAI - USA and the Human Aid Society would continue to grow, enabling similar opportunities to be extended to many more deserving and unemployed youth in the future.

Human Aid Society (Mother NGO Office) Hosts High-Impact CSR Funding Workshop for 12 NGOs in Baramulla

HASK Desk: 8th August 2026:

Human Aid Society (Mother NGO Office), which was designated as the Mother NGO by the Baramulla District Administration during the COVID-19 pandemic, successfully organized a specialized training workshop today at its head office in Baramulla for representatives of 12 active grassroots NGOs from different parts of the Valley. The workshop focused on CSR Funding and Project Proposal Development.

Several NGOs in Kashmir have been working for years in the field of public welfare; however, access to CSR funding, identifying suitable corporate partners, and preparing high-quality project proposals remain major challenges. Recognizing this gap, Human Aid Society (Mother NGO Office) conducted this practical training program to help organizations secure corporate support for their welfare initiatives.

A key highlight of the workshop was that participating NGOs nominated those individuals who are directly involved in preparing project proposals and handling funding applications within their respective organizations, ensuring that the training and guidance could be effectively implemented in real-time organizational work.

During the three-hour session, Mr. Irfan Bashir and Mr. Adnan Haider provided expert, hands-on guidance on how to apply for CSR funding, develop effective project proposals, and connect with relevant corporate companies.

A significant feature of the workshop was the introduction of modern technology and AI tools in the NGO sector. Experts highlighted how tools like ChatGPT and other AI platforms are transforming professional work, and how NGOs can also benefit from such technologies. A practical introduction to the Danveda software was also given, which is designed to help NGOs identify CSR funding opportunities and connect with relevant corporate companies. It was shared that the software is currently being used across more than 20 Indian states and in nearly six countries abroad. Mr. Irfan Bashir, CEO and Co-Founder of Danveda, also provided practical training on its usage.

Welcoming the participants, Chairman and Patron of Human Aid Society (Mother NGO Office), Haji Karamat Qayoom, and Chairman Bashir Ahmad Mir, reaffirmed their commitment to continuously support the NGO sector in Kashmir by connecting it with modern skills, technology, and CSR opportunities. They also appealed to CSR experts and corporate professionals to share their expertise with genuine NGOs in Jammu and Kashmir so that they can launch large-scale public welfare projects.

The participating organizations appreciated the initiative of Human Aid Society (Mother NGO Office) and expressed special gratitude to Mr. Irfan Bashir and Mr. Adnan Haider for dedicating their valuable time and providing practical guidance. Participating NGOs (12 Organizations): 1. Human Aid Society (Mother NGO Office) 2. Human Welfare Voluntary Organisations 3. Islamic Relief and Research Trust 4. Sky Trust 5. Help Foundation 6. Humanity the Ultimate Faith 7. Abale Foundation 8. Shahlat Foundation 9. Kashmir Lifeline & Health 10. Jammu & Kashmir Yateem Trust 11. Lapidary Foundation 12. Pet Welfare Organisation.

When No One Stands for Them, Someone Has to Step Forward!

Human Society Chairman Braved Difficult Roads to Reach Out to Five Orphaned Children and Offer Them Support.

HASK Desk: 9th August-2026

The Chairman of the Human Society today reached the last village of Uri, which is on the zero-line border (LOC) only one kilometre away from the border line, to personally inspect the under-construction house of five minor orphaned children and to offer them reassurance and emotional support. With no one to rely upon except Allah, the children had been living in extremely difficult circumstances for several years without a proper roof over their heads. Only the boundary walls of the house had been completed nearly three years ago, after which the construction remained stalled.

Taking note of their plight, the Human Society began renovation and construction work on the house a week ago. In an effort to help the children become self-reliant, the Society has also provided them with a poultry farm, which the Chairman inspected during his visit and used the opportunity to encourage the children.

It is worth mentioning that the Chairman himself is not in good health and experiences considerable difficulty walking. Nevertheless, relying on a walking stick, he personally made his way through the difficult and challenging terrain to reach the children and encourage them. He was accompanied by Mr. Muhammad Sabar Shah, a senior member of the Human Rice Society from the Uri area.

The Chairman expressed his heartfelt gratitude to all the generous individuals who responded to his appeal and contributed towards providing a roof over the heads of these orphaned children. He also appealed to other philanthropists to come forward and contribute their share towards this noble cause

Human Aid Society Distributes Monthly Grocery Support

HASK DESK: 23rd Augst 2026

Human Aid Society, in collaboration with Muslim Aid Australia, distributed August’s essential grocery support to around 100 deserving widows under the ongoing Project Monthly Groceries on 22 August 2026 at its Head Office. The monthly assistance aims to meet the basic food needs of deserving widows and help reduce the burden of their household expenses. Human Aid Society sincerely appreciates and expresses its heartfelt gratitude to Muslim Aid Australia for its valuable humanitarian support, which enables regular food assistance to be provided to deserving families

Understanding Someone’s Hardship Is True Humanity

HASK Desk Bla-26-08-2026

The head of a poor family in Baramulla is unable to work due to illness. Their household circumstances were already extremely difficult, and, to make matters worse, the family did not have access to a proper toilet. Out of necessity, a small portion of the kitchen was being used as a temporary toilet, causing severe difficulties for the sick man, his wife, and their children. This situation also created constant concerns regarding their health, hygiene, and privacy.

The family contacted the Human Aid Society. A member of the Human Aid Society made this possible by providing the financial support needed to construct a proper toilet for the household. Although it may appear to be a small facility, it has brought immense relief, improved health and hygiene, and restored dignity to the family. This initiative not only fulfilled a basic need but also gave them greater confidence and peace in their daily lives. We are grateful to our member for this support and encourage others to come forward and help needy families through such meaningful efforts. May Allah Almighty bless the wealth, time, and intentions of all those who support such causes, and may He make their contributions a lasting charity. Ameen.

In Search of Humanity in Remote Areas, Human Aid Society Visits Kupwara and Handwara

HASK DESK-30-08-2026

Today, the Human Aid Society visited the remote areas of Jakhadnar and Nunwani in Kupwara district. Chairman Bashir Ahmed Mir, accompanied by Engineer Khizar Mohammad Malik, Khizar Mohammad Ganaie, Showkat Ahmed Mir, and senior Kupwara team members Farooq Ahmed Ganaie, Munir Ahmed, and Meraj-ud-Din, met residents to understand their concerns and needs.

The visit followed appeals from local residents for assistance. The Society emphasized that social service requires reaching people directly, listening to them, and understanding their circumstances firsthand.

Later, the team met local youth at BHS Secondary School, Kalaroos. The youth requested a volleyball tournament, which the Chairman positively considered. They were also encouraged to join the Society, participate in social service, and use their abilities constructively. Volunteers in Kupwara and Handwara were urged to expand their network and bring sincere, service-minded people into the mission.

The team also visited Yamlar Bala, Handwara, to inquire about the health of Mr. Hadi Qureshi, a long-standing Society member and environment lover visited his home, offered prayers, and wished him a speedy recovery.

The team inspected Mr. Qureshi’s nursery and plants, including those planted last year by the Society’s Chairman and Vice Chairman, which are now flourishing. His children also presented their handmade paintings and photographs, and the Chairman encouraged them to continue developing their artistic talents.

The visit was a practical effort to connect with remote communities, understand their needs, motivate volunteers, encourage youth participation, and strengthen the bond of humanity. The Human Aid Society remains committed to ensuring that the call of humanity reaches every place where help is needed.
